SOUTH TRIMBLE WON

After Cantrill Declined the 'Nomination for Congress.

Convention in Seventh District a Stormy One and Full of Surprises.

Lexington, Ky., May 13.—During a wild scene of tumult in the Seventh District Congressional Convention here to-day there was a shift, which seems to be the result of a deal, that gave the nomination to Hon. South Trimble, although just before that, on the 28th ballot, Senator Campbell Cantrill, of Georgetown, had received enough votes to give him the nomination.

But the result of the ballot was not announced by the Chairman, although the clerk had recorded a majority for Cantrill and announced it.

But the Trimble men got very busy, and before the Chairman could give the result of the ballot which would have given the nomination to Cantrill the latter arose and said that in the interest of harmony in the party he would decline the nomination.

Why Cantrill should have withdrawn when he had the nomination clinched may seem to be a puzzle, but it developed afterwards that, while the convention was stampeding to Cantrill, he and the Kimball leaders were in the act of drawing up an agreement by which Trimble was to be given the nomination in return for support for Judge J. E. Cantrill for the Appellate Judgeship, and that Kimball is to receive the congressional nomination at the end of Trimble's term, two years hence.

When Chairman Smith said a recapitulation of the vote would be made, Charles J. Bronston took the floor and demanded recognition. The convention had gone mad.

Bronston made a short speech after a brief period of quiet had been secured. He vigorously denounced the action of Chairman Smith as contrary to every principle of parliamentary law. The mob again went wild, and it seemed as if a riot was imminent. Trimble was everywhere at once. His face streamed with perspiration. His followers had shouted themselves hoarse in efforts to turn the tide.

Chairman Smith called Judge J. H. Hazelrigg to the chair, who had no more than restored a semblance of order than Senator Cantrill came to the front and quietly announced that, although it was an almost unheard of step he was taking, he considered harmony in the Democratic ranks paramount to any political honor, and would, therefore, decline the nomination.

While the convention recoiled, stunned by this totally unexpected announcement, the chairman called another ballot. The returning tide swept back to Trimble. and it was all over. Kimball, Cantrill and Thomas escorted the victor to the stage, and made short speeches assuring him of their support after he had said a few words.

Something of a mild sensation was caused in the convention when Congressman Trimble in his speech accepting the nomination declared his hope that Judge Alton B. Parker will be the Democratic Presidential standard bearer, and urged all Democrats to support him. Kimball followed suit, but considerable hissing followed these declarations.

A BIG FUND.

Raised for the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

J. H. Anderson, of This City Gives $1,000.—Other Large Sums.

Nashville, Tenn., May 14.—The second day's session of the Southern Baptist convention was devoted to a service of song. The first announcement was the appointment of the standing committees.

An amendment to the constitution was proposed providing for the filling of vacancies in the list of state messengers. The convention refused to consider a communication from the Rev. A. Diaz, of Cuba, asking for a committee on arbitration to hear the old troubles which have existed in Havana for years. A resolution to place the Cuban work in the hands of the foreign mission board was referred to a committee.

The report of the visiting committee to the Southern Baptist Theological seminary at Louisville was presented by A. S. J. Thomas, of South Carolina. A comprehensive review of the conditions in each department was given, and it was shown that 236 out of the 273 students are college bred. Mr. Thomas called attention to the endowment fund, and said the church at large should not be satisfied until a permanent endowment of $1,000,000 was raised for the seminary.

Prof. Sampey and President Mullins spoke of the needs of the institution, and Mr. Mullins said the sole source of revenue was the income derived from invested funds, and that this had been curtailed by reason of the reduction of interest rates. He said the seminary needed a new member of the faculty, and a Sunday school department was indispensable. Dr. Mullins said he would take a collection and announced two $5,000 subscriptions from gentlemen in Massachusetts and Texas, and said the student body had agreed to raise $6,000 for the Twentieth Century fund.

Among others who gave large sums to the seminary were: Geo. W. Norton, Louisville... $1,000 W. J. Farriss, Danville... 1,000 Mrs. W. H. Wiggs, Atlanta... 5,000 J. H. Anderson, Hopkinsville... 1,000 C. B. Wellington, Macon... 1,000 George Witt, Lynchburg... 1,000 James B. Ellis, Alabama... 5,000 A. F. Levering, Missouri... 1,000 C. F. Proctor, Bowling Green... $1,000 Other subscriptions aggregated nearly $50,000.

BATIST CONVENE.

Southern Baptist Convention in Session in Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., May 15.—The churches' attitude toward the negro was one of the chief subjects of debate in the Southern Baptist convention. The issue came over the memorial submitted by representatives of the Virginia association urging upon the convention the advisability of appointing a committee of the wisest and most conservative men to study the whole situation concerning the religious welfare of the negroes in the South, the committee to report at the next meeting. It was contended that the negroes are largely Baptist, and it is the duty of the white churchmen of the same faith to look more closely after their spiritual welfare.

The meeting was called to order promptly at 10 o'clock Friday by former Gov. Eagle, of Arkansas, and the president called upon former Gov. Northern, of Georgia, to lead the invocation. The Scripture lesson was read by Dr. S. H. Ford, of St. Louis, editor of the Christian Repository, and the oldest members of the convention.

The first business was the effecting of a permanent organization, and President Eagle was re-elected.

HEARST SPEAKING.

Messrs Shober And Tarvin Here Saturday Night.

Hon. F. E. Shober of New York, and Judge Jas. P. Tarvin, of Covington, spoke at the Court House Saturday night in the interest of the candidacy of Hon. W. R. Hearst for president. A small crowd was present, as there is but little interest being taken in the presidential race here at this time. Public sentiment is strongly in favor of Parker, so far as there have been expressions of preferences.

MRS. MARY BENNETT

Gets Judgment for $1,900 Damages Against Railroad.

Henderson, Ky., May 11.—Mrs. Mary C. Bennett, widow of Judge Caswell Bennett, was given a judgment in the Circuit Court against the I. C. railroad for $1,900 damages to her land by the elevation of the railroad bed and tracks of defendant's company across the Ohio river bottoms above her lands.

MRS. D. A. TANDY.

Death of a Most Estimable Christian Woman.

Mrs. Kate Jesup Tandy, wife of Mr. David A. Tandy, died Saturday morning at her home in this city. She had been critically ill for two weeks.

She was a daughter of the late Jas. E. Jesup and was about 50 years of age. She was a lady of the most estimable character, a devoted wife and mother, a good neighbor and a consistent member of the Christian church. She leaves four sons and three daughters. Her sons are T. J. Tandy, of this city, Harry G. Tandy, of Frankfort, Everett Tandy, of Clarksville and Jesup Tandy, who is in the regular army. The daughters are also widely scattered, one living in Arkansas another in Mississippi and the youngest, Mrs. Roy Threlkeld, at Salem, Ky.

Other near relatives live in this city.

The funeral services were held at the residence yesterday morning by Elder H. D. Smith and the body was laid to rest in Hopewell Cemetery.

DRUG STORE ROBBED.

Thief Secured $10 In Cash. But Left No Clue.

The drug store of Mr. Jas. O. Cook, on East Ninth street, was burglarized Sunday night. The thief effected an entrance by prizing open two iron bars in a rear window. The cash register was then opened and about $10 taken. Nothing else was missed. The thief made his exit through the rear door.
